

During the webinar about the rule changes, it was mentioned that there would be repercussions for bad referrals to outside professionals, but I'm not in a position to background check and monitor all the outside professionals I'm in contact with, and to which I am willing to refer a client. Can there be some clarification on my responsibilities for making a referral that turns out poorly for the client? Where can I find out more information on that?

Abigail Hollar